PRINCIPAL'S MESSAGE

Dear Parents,

We ended January with a lovely picnic to Zabeel park. The Lush green surroundings and the beautiful weather gave our enthusiastic children, the much needed release to their contained energies. It was indeed a treat to watch their happy faces and feel their excitement, throughout the day, in fact before and after that day too!!!

Children greet every small experience with such great fervor, that it leaves us with that big question about where does that enthusiasm go as we grow?

William Henry Davies has stringed these same thoughts into beautiful words in his poem,

'Leisure'

*What is this life if, full of care,
We have no time to stand and stare?
No time to stand beneath the boughs,
And stare as long as sheep and cows;
No time to see, when woods we pass,
Where squirrels hide their nuts in grass;
No time to see, in broad daylight,
Streams full of stars, like skies at night;
No time to turn at Beauty's glance,
And watch her feet, how they can dance;
No time to wait till her mouth can,
Enrich that smile her eyes began.
A poor life this if, full of care,
We have no time to stand and stare.*

We certainly have our reasons and know the answer to it, but yet..... I guess it is time to pause and take the cue from our little ones; to live and love life!!!

Sharing this poem this year too, only because I feel that the same words exude a deeper essence, every time you read it.

With best regards,
Rashmi Nagendra

EDITOR'S NOTE

Happy New Year and welcome to 2020!

We hope that you had loads of fun and connecting times with family during your winter break. If you have set on your new resolutions and goals to achieve, we sure wish you Good Luck! And as for our resolution ...we have it short and sweet- Engage.....Evolve....Empower!

To engage the little minds for purposeful exploration and evolve their understanding to further empowering their knowledge! The 3 E's that shall lead us to a productive and satisfying 2020!

Our happy 'first day' at school kept echoing all around with stories and updates of what and how they celebrated their winter holidays and the New Year's eve! The 'dress up' day had our little pre kindergarteners hop around in their favorite rhyme characters while the 'Field trip' day had them hop and slide around with friends around Zabeel Park! The weekly AKG Kinder Radio brings us all the current news and happenings! India's Republic Day snippets celebrated with great zeal and enthusiasm! Proud to be an Indian!

Jai Hind! Happy Reading!!

WOW MOMENT

YOGA is a holistic approach to lead a healthy and happy life, what more adds is the beautiful smile and greetings of the children as they enter the yoga class. Once they enter they prefer their own colored mats, usually girls choose pink or purple mats and boys tend to choose blue. Sometimes energetic, sometimes tired because of hot weather or drained out doing all class work.

It feels good when I see them pushing hard themselves to achieve that perfect posture whether it is balancing or stretching. The kids enjoy doing Buddy Boat pose as it brings lots of fun with their friends. I feel proud when I see the expressions of parents while their kids perform yogasanas on sports day or “I am special” event in school and when kids mention they did asanas with their family members. This is definitely a wow moment for me.

Sometimes kids teach their friends by leading the class. It feels good when they try to follow and give instructions the same way as I tell them during class. It shows they are keen to know the classical yoga. I feel lucky and privileged to be a part of incorporating a healthy life style to the children right from early years of their education. Some students even show some of the difficult asanas which they learnt from outside classes. This in turn gives me a goal to achieve further. So here the teaching is not only from my side alone but kids also become my Guru and that’s definitely a wow moment where we exchange our learning and views. Thus these are the incredible experiences with our little yogis.

WOW MOMENT

Teaching is a very rewarding profession. This many years I have enjoyed watching my little ones as they've learned new concepts and progressed both academically and socially. It is amazing to know that teaching kindergarten is the foundation for their entire educational experience. Even though I'm often faced with deep responsibilities and challenges, there's not another job I would love more than positively impacting the life of a child! It is a blessing each day to be surrounded by children who trust me with their hugs, with their sweet words, and so much more!

It seems like only yesterday that I was standing inside my classroom anxiously meeting and greeting my parents and students.

I'll never forget the faces of some of my shy little ones holding onto their parents. Now many of those same shy students are never at a loss for words.

Each day I also reminded myself of why I became a teacher and kept this reason close to my heart. When you're making a difference in the life of a child, all the stress really can be worth it!

Simple Acts of Appreciation, the random hugs and sweet voices of my students whispering, "I love you, ma'am.", occasional notes and cards left on my desk thanking me for being their teacher. These simple acts of appreciation help to remind me each day that my influence is beyond what I know or can even comprehend.
